

WOODPECKERS

Our local woodpecker friends have been busy tapping away, reminding us that spring is in the air!

While we understand the noise generated by these birds can be disruptive, woodpeckers are a protected species, and as such, the removal, relocation, or disturbance of their nests is strictly prohibited. It is important to recognize that woodpeckers play a valuable role in the ecosystem by controlling insect populations and contributing biodiversity.

We appreciate your patience and understanding as we coexist with our noisy neighbors.
